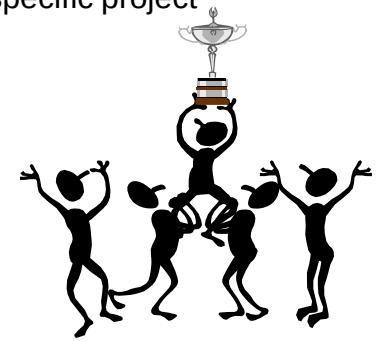
What is the Rapid Cycle Improvement Collaborative (RCIC)?

Collaborative Objectives

- To achieve a measurable improvement in a focused, narrow-scoped project in 120 days by a team
- To develop the Team Leader's ability to lead a narrow-scoped improvement project using the Model for Improvement
- To build team members' capability in using the Model for Improvement & basic QI tools

Structure

- For Entire Team including Team Leader – 1 full day & approximately 5 half day sessions
- Team Leaders Only – in addition to the 1 full day & 5 half day sessions with the team, there will be a 1 day orientation on leading teams, as well as an additional 5 half days of training
- Sessions include instruction, application examples & time allocated to work on team's specific project

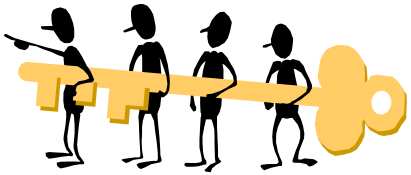


Target Audience

Small Teams including a Team Leader who are recommended & sponsored by their Department/Division/Institute leadership

Collaborative Cost

Cost per team of up to five people is $1600 which includes training materials, textbooks, off-site location costs & food/beverages. Additional team member cost is $200 per person.



Collaborative Requirements

- Team Leader & Team Members must attend all sessions
- Team Leaders & team members must complete the Introduction to Quality Improvement module on ELM prior to the first session

How to Apply

Sponsor must submit a team application which includes their team recommendation as well as team information & specifics about the proposed project. Applications are due by December 1, 2010.
